

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

DAVID LEE ANDERSON,

Nos. C 13-5739 WHA (PR)

Plaintiff,

ORDER OF SERVICE

vs.

ALAMEDA COUNTY SHERIFF
OFFICE; HOWARD JORDAN;
CORIZON HEALTH SERVICES, et al.,

Defendants.

INTRODUCTION

Plaintiff, an inmate at the Santa Rita County Jail proceeding pro se, filed this civil rights case under 42 U.S.C. 1983. He is granted leave to proceed in forma pauperis in a separate order. For the reasons discussed below, the complaint is dismissed as to one named defendant and ordered served upon the other two defendants.

A. STANDARD OF REVIEW

Federal courts must engage in a preliminary screening of cases in which prisoners seek redress from a governmental entity or officer or employee of a governmental entity. 28 U.S.C. 1915A(a). In its review the court must identify any cognizable claims, and dismiss any claims which are frivolous, malicious, fail to state a claim upon which relief may be granted, or seek monetary relief from a defendant who is immune from such relief. Id. at 1915A(b)(1),(2). Pro se pleadings must be liberally construed. Balistreri v. Pacifica Police Dep't, 901 F.2d 696, 699 (9th Cir. 1990).

Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 8(a)(2) requires only "a short and plain statement of the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief." "Specific facts are not necessary; the statement need only 'give the defendant fair notice of what the . . . claim is and the grounds upon which it rests.'" Erickson v. Pardus, 127 S. Ct. 2197, 2200 (2007) (citations omitted). Although in order to state a claim a complaint "does not need detailed factual allegations, . . . a plaintiff's obligation to provide the 'grounds of his 'entitle[ment] to relief' requires more than labels and conclusions, and a formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause of action will not do. . . . Factual allegations must be enough to raise a right to relief above the speculative level." Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 127 S. Ct. 1955, 1964-65 (2007) (citations omitted). A complaint must proffer "enough facts to state a claim for relief that is plausible on its face." Id. at 1974.

To state a claim under 42 U.S.C. 1983, a plaintiff must allege two essential elements: (1) that a right secured by the Constitution or laws of the United States was violated, and (2) that the alleged deprivation was committed by a person acting under the color of state law. West v. Atkins, 487 U.S. 42, 48 (1988).

B. LEGAL CLAIMS

Plaintiff claims that he received inadequate medical care for his knee at Santa Rita Jail, which is run by the Alameda County Sheriff's Department. Plaintiff alleges that he was shot in the knee while being arrested in November 2012. He was transported to Highland Hospital, where he received medical attention. Two days later he was sent to Santa Rita Jail with instructions from the hospital's attending physician that he had an urgent need for surgery to remove the bullet that was still lodged in his knee. Despite numerous requests to jail officials and employees of Corizon Health Services (which is contracted to provide medical care for jail inmates), he did not receive the surgery until July 2013. The delay has caused irreparable

1 damage and disfigurement to his knee preventing him from walking without a crutch, and he
2 has been informed that he may need follow-up surgery. When liberally construed, plaintiff's
3 allegations state cognizable claims for the violation of his Eighth Amendment rights by the
4 Alameda County Sheriff's Department and Corizon Health Services. Plaintiff lists Oakland
5 Police Chief Howard Jordan as a defendant but alleges no conduct or involvement by Jordan
6 related to the alleged failure to treat his knee. Therefore, the claims against defendant Jordan
7 will be dismissed.

8 CONCLUSION

13 same time they served him with their motion. Failure to do so will result in the summary
14 dismissal of their motion without prejudice.

15 5. All communications by the plaintiff with the court must be served on defendant, or 16 defendant's counsel once counsel has been designated, by mailing a true copy of the document

19 further court order under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 30(a)(2) or Local Rule 16-1 is 20 required before the parties may conduct discovery.

21 7. It is the plaintiff's responsibility to prosecute this case. Plaintiff must keep the court
22 informed of any change of address and must comply with the court's orders in a timely fashion.

25 IT IS SO ORDERED.

26 Dated: February 6, 2014.

NOTICE -- WARNING (SUMMARY JUDGMENT)

If defendants move for summary judgment, they are seeking to have your case dismissed. A motion for summary judgment under Rule 56 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure will, if granted, end your case.

Rule 56 tells you what you must do in order to oppose a motion for summary judgment. Generally, summary judgment must be granted when there is no genuine issue of material fact--that is, if there is no real dispute about any fact that would affect the result of your case, the party who asked for summary judgment is entitled to judgment as a matter of law, which will end your case. When a party you are suing makes a motion for summary judgment that is properly supported by declarations (or other sworn testimony), you cannot simply rely on what your complaint says. Instead, you must set out specific facts in declarations, depositions, answers to interrogatories, or authenticated documents, as provided in Rule 56(e), that contradict the facts shown in the defendant's declarations and documents and show that there is a genuine issue of material fact for trial. If you do not submit your own evidence in opposition, summary judgment, if appropriate, may be entered against you. If summary judgment is granted, your case will be dismissed and there will be no trial.

NOTICE -- WARNING (EXHAUSTION)

If defendants file a motion to dismiss for failure to exhaust administrative remedies, they are seeking to have your case dismissed. If the motion is granted it will end your case and there will be no trial.

A motion to dismiss for failure to exhaust administrative remedies is similar to a motion for summary judgment in that the court will consider materials beyond the pleadings. You have the right to present any evidence you may have which tends to show that you did exhaust your administrative remedies. Such evidence may be in the form of declarations (statements signed under penalty of perjury) or authenticated documents, that is, documents accompanied by a declaration showing where they came from and why they are authentic, or other sworn papers, such as answers to interrogatories or depositions. In considering a motion to dismiss for failure to exhaust administrative remedies, the court can decide disputed factual matters with regard to the exhaustion question. Because the court can resolve factual disputes, unlike a summary judgment opposition, it is not enough to merely show a genuine issue of material fact in opposition to the motion to dismiss.
